ATTRACTIONS

Apart from its colourful ethnic villages, the Bengas lake area is recognized for its abundance of fresh water fish and the surrounding forestland for its variety of flora and fauna.

The Subtropical climate is ideal for fruit plantations as also for growing cash-crops such as mushroom and coffee. It is not uncommon to see migratory birds from as far away as Siberia en route to the Gangetic plains of India. This is also the hunting ground for the Himalayan Leopards, smaller animals and exotic birds.
